REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD.

In compliance with the requirements of the statute, we hereby submit our annual report, and ask your careful attention to the following remarks: Our common schools are a priceless legacy bequeathed to us, which should be carefully treasured and improved, they being the foundation-stones upon which depend the stability of our government. A liberal education is one of the greatest promoters of all our religious, moral, and social interests, consequently a reliable guard against, and preventative of, crime. As you increase and improve the educational facilities, just in that proportion you advance all the best interests of society and decrease all forms of crime. Show us a criminal, and we will show you one who has not had, or would not avail himself of, proper educational advantages. This, we think, will be found true with rare exceptions. How important it is then (if for no other reason than this) that our children make the most of the educational advantages afforded them, and that their parents and guardians insist upon their doing so. But this is not all the argument in favor of our schools. Every person with nothing more than a common-school education stands ten chances to one of becoming something more than "a mere hewer of wood and drawer of water" against those without it. To the young people of Allentown we wish to say, if you will, allow us to speak from our own experience, that when you have passed your school-days and have entered upon the active duties of life, your chief regret will be that you had not better improved your time. If you do not realize it now, you will sometime. That proportion of life that you can devote to obtaining an education is short at the longest, therefore we urge you not to waste any part of it.

To the parents and citizens we would say, let us one and all take a greater interest in our schools, and try and elevate the standard thereof. It appears to us that we all have a responsibility here that we cannot ignore. Taken in a merely pecuniary sense, it is cheaper, and certainly better, to support schools than it is prisons, jails, and houses of correction. We trust you will give this your careful consideration, hoping it may lead you to more clearly see your duties, and thereby to take a greater interest in the schools, consequently promoting your own interests.

We have endeavored to give the schools our best efforts, and regret that we have not had the ability to serve you better. We have been unfortunate in having the time broken in all the schools by reason of the teachers being sick. In one case we had to put in a substitute to complete the term. Thinking it better to see how well (not how much) we could do, we have tried to impress upon the minds of our teachers the importance of thoroughness in all their work, and think our schools will compare favorably with those in surrounding towns. Believing in the old adage that "it is best to let well enough alone," we have retained the old teachers in every case where we could. Our teachers have all labored faithfully for the advancement of their pupils, and we think with good results. Miss Watson needs no commendation from us, her works do it better than we can. Miss Perkins, in the primary school (spring term), came highly recommended, and we think she fully sustained her reputation. Miss Clough (fall term) commenced the school without previous experience. She labored hard, and the examination showed marked improvement. Miss Scribner (winter term) came back fully determined to sustain her former reputation, which with her means success. Miss Fowler's reputation is well known. We regret that illness compelled her to give up the school. Miss Martin went in to complete the term, without former experience. She labored hard, and the examination showed that she had the faculty of having her pupils understand their work. Miss Merrill came here with a first-class reputation. Her examination showed that she had the faculty, in a high degree, to both teach and govern. Circumstances beyond our control prevented us from giving the winter schools that personal attention we intended to.

The following statistical table, and the report of the treasurer, explain themselves, and we trust they are sufficiently plain to be easily understood.

The parochial school, under the management of Rev. I. H. C. Davignon, has from 275 to 300 pupils. The number of children in town between the ages of five and fifteen years, as returned by the selectmen, is: Boys, 165; girls, 155;—total, 320.
